- Hoarding assessment

Afternoon Session 1:15 to 4:30
- Motivation and communication
- Intervention approaches: harm reduction and cognitive behavioural interventions
- Interventions with geriatric population living in care facilities
- Coordinated multi-disciplinary responses to hoarding

LEARNING OBJECTIVES:

1. Define hoarding and examine associated problems of squalor and animal hoarding.
2. Recognize mental health diagnostic criteria for hoarding disorder and co-occurring mental health conditions.
3. Learn about the behavioral, emotional and belief/meaning aspects of a hoarding problem and how they are used to develop a model for hoarding.
4. Learn about and practice using tested measures to assess the severity of hoarding behavior.
5. Practice using strategies for intervening with and addressing hoarding in adults, including the geriatric population.
6. Identify community resources for addressing hoarding.

DESCRIPTION OF WORKING SESSION

During this day long interactive workshop, Dr. Bratiotis familiarizes participants with the definition, diagnostic categorization, demographics, prevalence, course and manifestations of hoarding. Information about evidence-based hoarding assessments and interventions is presented and workshop attendees will have the opportunity to develop skills through hands-on practice. Tips and strategies for enhancing motivation, effective communication and reducing risk of harm are offered for those working with and supporting people with lived experience of hoarding, including interventions with the geriatric population living in care facilities.

ABOUT THE PRESENTER

Christiana Bratiotis, Ph.D., MSW completed her Doctor of Philosophy at Boston University in the Interdisciplinary Social Work and Sociology program. Upon completion of her doctoral studies, Dr. Bratiotis was awarded a three year post-doctoral research fellowship at Boston University School of Social Work, where she served as director of the BU Hoarding Research Project.

Dr. Bratiotis is currently an Assistant Professor at the University of British Columbia in Vancouver, Canada where she teaches undergraduate and graduate level direct practice courses in the School of Social Work. In 2010, Dr. Bratiotis was recognized with an Excellence in Teaching Award.

Dr. Bratiotis has provided individual and group specialized outpatient cognitive behavioral therapy for hoarding disorder. In addition to providing clinical treatment, she offers national and international consultation on hoarding behaviour and coordinated interventions to families and communities. Dr. Bratiotis’ primary area of research is the formation and operation of multi-disciplinary community hoarding task forces highlighted in her book titled “The Hoarding Handbook: A Guide for Human Service Professionals” released by Oxford University Press.

Dr. Bratiotis has given more than 200 invited community lectures, key note addresses, agency clinical trainings and academic presentations on the nature and treatment of hoarding. Dr. Bratiotis developed the HOMES Multi-disciplinary Hoarding Risk Assessment instrument. She is a founding member of the Greater Boston Regional Hoarding Network and the Omaha Metro Hoarding Task Force. Her work has been highlighted by media outlets including the New York Times, Boston Globe, Chicago Tribune and Huffington Post.
